Miscellaneous Items.

The A. P. Hill Camp of Confederate Veterans lost all of their records by fire at Petersburg, Va., last week.

The President, it is understood, has reached the conclusion that the Germans and the negroes are responsible for the disastrous results of the late election.

The democrats are waiting with interest for the President's message, to see whether the republican scheme for further federal interference in the elections will be foreshadowed in that document.

About 100 negroes met in convention in Atlanta Tuesday. Among other things the speakers urged the negroes not to give their names to the census takers, in order that the number of democratic Congressional representatives may be diminished.

A sensation has been caused in political circles in Montreal by a dispatch from Baltimore saying that Premier Meier, the head of the Quebec government, had declared that the French Canadians were in favor of annexation to the United States.

The citizens of Louisville, Ky., on Monday held an indignation meeting to denounce a report sent to the Postmaster-General by R. C. McClure, their postmaster, to the effect that he democrats while celebrating election victories had demolished the post office.

A letter from Hyden, Leslie county, Ky., dated November 11, says a fight occurred in Hazard, Ky., Thursday between the French Evered faction, in which Ed Campbell and John McKnight, of the Evered party, were killed, and Jessie Field, jailer of Perry county, and four others on the French side were badly wounded.

It is understood that in the forthcoming session of Governor Lee to the General Assembly there will be some statistical information showing the material progress of Virginia in the past four or five years as illustrated in the railroads built, furnaces constructed and put into blast, manufacturers established, and capital otherwise invested, &c.

Mayor Cregier, of Chicago, has appointed a committee of leading citizens to confer with the ex-Confederate Soldiers' Association relative to the reception to be tendered to Governor Gordon, of Georgia, during his visit, November 30. There will be a public meeting in the interest of the Confederate soldiers' monument to be erected in Oak Wood Cemetery, where several thousand Confederate dead are buried.

ELOPED IN HER NIGHT CLOTHES.—An elopement took place recently in Fort Smith that for unique development rivals anything on record. John Meadows had for a long while been clandestinely making love to Miss Josephine Crain, the daughter of a well known citizen. Miss Crain's father objected, as some fathers have a way of doing, and the love-lorn swain bethought himself of a ruse whereby he might elope. When finally the old gentleman began to talk of doing some shooting if his intentions were persisted in, Meadows determined that the time had come to act. So he fixed it up with Miss Crain, and one morning they had it arranged to flee ere the cock crew. John went to the house before daylight and entered his sweetheart's room, but it was some time before he could arouse her. The noise awoke the old man, and he came charging in just as Meadows went out the window. The old man made chase, and Meadows gave him the slip around the house, where he jumped on his horse, quickly followed by Miss Crain in her night clothes, who perched astraddle behind him, while the horse lit out in orthodox Lochinvar fashion. Papa, now considerably irate, gave chase, but he couldn't keep up with the nag, and the couple soon gave him the slip in a corn patch, where Meadows secreted his shivering sweetheart, while he rode back to town for a dress and a justice. An hour later the two were married under the spreading branches of a pecan tree.—Arkansas Register.

THE FUNERAL WAS POSTPONED.—Mrs. Sophronia Drain, of Vincennes, Ind., apparently died of dropsy on the 6th inst., and her remains were prepared for burial. All day the corpse lay on the cooling-board and that night was placed in the coffin. When Funeral Director Dexter Gardner, who has been in the undertaking business for thirty years, went to the house the next morning to make the final preparations for burial, he found unmistakable signs of life.

The husband of the woman announced that the funeral would be postponed. The undertaker, after pinching the nose, cheeks, and forehead of the supposed dead and examining the finger-nails, pronounced her alive, in a trance. She was taken from the coffin and placed in bed. After having lain in a cold room all night her face was roseate and her whole frame was limber.

There was nothing to indicate that she was inanimate. Her eyes passed and still the symptoms of life were there. Her folks told the undertaker that he need not return and replace her in the coffin until sent for; that they were satisfied she was alive, and until convinced otherwise they would not require his services.
